DRAMATIC READING AT THE INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL

The girls' gymnasium at the Gables last night was the scene of an entertainment of unusual excellence, the occasion being a dramatic reading contest for a gold medal placed in competition by Lyles W. Larkin. Five members each of the junior and senior girls' classes of the State Industrial school, competed for the medal, which was finally awarded to Frances Grow, who read "Guinevere," by Tennyson.

In addition to the girl students and faculty members of the school, the entertainment was attended by several members of the board of trustees and nearly a half hundred residents of Ogden. All were impressed with the creditable manner in which each reading was delivered and applauded the effort of the different competitors. The contest was arranged by Miss Zina Larkin, of the school faculty, and Superintendent E. S. Hinckley acted as chairman of the evening.

The program of readings was as follows:

"The Vagabonds," "Barbara Freitche," "The Leper," "The Old Clock," "Paul Revere's Ride," "Guinevere," "The Birds of Killingworth," "Death Bed Scene from Enoch Arden," "The Building of the Ship," "Bingen on the Rhine." In addition to this program the audience enjoyed two piano solos, played by Miss Thelma Larkin and Miss Ruth Bailey, and a song by the girls of the Gables.

The judges of the reading contest were Rev. Father Laken, Prof. David J. Wilson and Prof. R. Belnap.

JOHN NASH, MAN OF LARGE FAMILY, SENT TO JAIL

John Nash of Wilson today pleaded guilty to the charge of cutting copper bond wire from the electric car track near Hot Springs and was sentenced by Judge N. J. Harris to serve a term of six months in the county jail. The offense is a felony, but under special provision of the statutes, it is discretionary with the court as to whether sentence be incarceration in the county jail or in the penitentiary.

At the time of entering the plea of guilty, Nash said he had a wife and six children living at Wilson dependent on him. He said that he worked for the sugar company in the Ogden factory from last fall until March 10. He had gone to Brigham City to seek employment in the building of the new sugar factory at that vicinity but failed to get work. He started home on foot and when he reached the Hot Springs he cut some brass needles from old water hose and had just cut a copper bond wire from the rails of the Ogden, Logan & Idaho company's rails when he was arrested by the station agent.

Nash said he was considerably in debt and was hard pressed for money. He gathered up the brass, he said, as junk and expected to sell it when he arrived in Ogden. It was March 24 when the offense was committed, just two weeks after his job at the sugar factory terminated. He said he took a few drinks of liquor on the day of the offense, but was not intoxicated.

ROBBED TRAIN PULLS INTO OGDEN AT NOON TODAY

Union Pacific train No. 1, the Overland Limited, held up near Cheyenne last night, reached Ogden at 12 o'clock noon today, but the passengers and Pullman employees were reluctant about discussing the robbery. Information was secured, however, that the bandit did not enter the coaches, but confined his attention to the passengers in the observation car, securing about $570 and a gold watch.

The authorities were aided in their search by a description furnished by Hector Rohitaille, a switchman who saw a man swing aboard the train 200 yards from the Cheyenne station. This description tended to confirm the belief that the robber was the same as the one who held up a Union Pacific train near Green River, February 2.

Two women in the observation car at the time of the robbery were not molested.

Cheyenne, Wyo., April 5.—A man who gave the name of Joe Daley was being held this afternoon in connection with the robbery of passengers of Union Pacific Limited No. 1 last night, near Cheyenne. Officers stated that, although they did not believe Daley committed the holdup, they were confident he had more information than he had disclosed.

Fourteen other suspects arrested up to noon were released.

Officers continuing the search said they had definitely established that the robber left the train at Corlett Junction.

SMITH SAYS HE IS THE VICTIM OF UNTRUTHS

Motion for new trial in the case of the State against Frank Smith was denied by Judge N. J. Harris this afternoon and the defendant was sentenced to serve an indeterminate term in the state penitentiary. The defendant's attorney gave notice that an appeal would be taken to the supreme court.

When asked whether he had anything to say why sentence should not be passed on him, he told the court that:

"I am going to the penitentiary an innocent man. I had nothing whatever to do with the robbery and the truth about me was not told at the trial."

The motion for new trial was based on affidavits to the effect that John Worthington, Smith's accomplice, who turned state's evidence, falsified when he testified on the trial that Smith gave him the watch which was taken from a Mr. West on Wall avenue and Twenty-second street. The attorney contended that Smith's conviction rested largely on the testimony of Worthington, which was not sufficiently corroborated by credible witnesses.

C. C. Michener withdrew from the directorate, but will be retained in the company as manager.

It is stated by the board of directors that during the year a new warehouse of two stories will be built and an annex will be constructed on the west side of the present structure where additional machinery will be installed.
